DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

- Group I, claim(s) 1-30, drawn to a method of large scale virus production. The special technical feature of this group is the use of gas sparging in virus production.
- Group II, claim(s) 31-35, 37-41, 43 and 45, drawn to a method of producing a virus seed stock free of cell-lysis components. The special technical feature of this group is the production and harvesting of intracellular and extracellular virus from host cells without the aid of any added cell-lysis component.
- Group III, claim(s) 36, 42, 44 and 46, drawn to an unclarified virus seed stock. The special technical feature of this group is the production and harvesting of intracellular and extracellular virus from host cells without the aid of any added cell-lysis component.

The inventions listed as Groups I-III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The special technical feature of these Groups are related in that the method of Group II produces the product of Group III, which can be used in the methods of Group I. However, the prior art teaches Applicant's special technical feature. Zhang (6,194,191) teaches a method for the production and purification of adenoviral vectors comprising growing host cells, infecting with adenovirus, harvesting and lysing using a method such as impinging jets and hollow fiber ultrafiltration (col. 2, lines 58-61 and col. 12, line 49). Gas sparging can be used in Zhang's method (col. 11, lines 1-11). Pluronic®F-68 (0.1%) can be used in the culture (col. 4, lines 25-28). Also taught are methods of purification of adenovirus from cell lysates, such as clarification, concentration and diafiltration. Therefore, the special technical feature is anticipated by and suggested by the prior art and the claims lack unity of invention.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should Applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1648

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
